Problems Accessing D2L - Feb 9

At this time you may experience problems reaching D2L. Technicians at D2L have resolved the issue that created the connection problems, but you may experience lingering connection problems while the fix takes effect.

Details

Though the D2L system itself remains online and fully operational, a domain name system (DNS) issue may prevent you from connecting to the system. Technicians at D2L have updated DNS to correct the problem; however, due to the distributed nature of DNS, it will take time for D2L's correction to propagate out to all Internet service providers. Until your Internet service provider receives the update, you will not be able to access D2L.

Therefore, should you experience problems connecting to D2L, please wait a few minutes and then refresh your web browser to try connecting again.
