Examity

Examity is an online exam proctoring service for which Millersville University maintains a contract with for proctoring services for specific online courses and programs. The use and integration of Examity into your course will occur prior to the start of a semester, and for the safety of our students, will not be implemented in a new class once a semester has started. If you are a faculty member interested in using Examity, you need to reach out to Dr. James Delle, the Dean of the College of Graduate Studies and Adult Learning via email at James.Delle@millersville.edu.
